Hon. J. D. Cox to be Returned with Double his Former Majority.

Special to the Indianapolis Sentinel.

PERU, IND., March 16. An immense meeting of the opponents of the constitutional suffrage amendment was held in this city to-day, and considering the bad condition of the roads and the inclemency of the weather, was the largest gathering ever held here.

Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks addressed the meeting, and his appearance upon the stand was greeted with the wildest enstand was greeted with the wildest enthusiasm. His speech was a success in every way, and had a telling effect upon the people, who are fully aroused to the importance of the question at issue. The speaker regarded as the great wrong of the amendment, the striking down of the rights of the States, and for this reason alone, if for no other, should be condemnated by the people.

year, where an injunction was served by Judge Barnard, of the Superior Court of New York, upon the officers of the Company, some of its directors, some of its stockholders and certain of the Government directors restraining them from and prohibiting an election of any officer or directors upon the day designated by the Federal law of December 25th, 1857. The ensuing year the whole number of votes thrown we have ascertained to be 207,240 shares of which 25,840 were given for the gents whose names are hereunto appended and no other votes could have been given that would change the vote. Under these injunctions and attachments, some of them not bailable, and threats of imprisonment if disobeyed, the inspectors of elections were advised to declare the result, though believing themselves authorized so to do by the Federal laws and hence the new board it is elected remains in abeyance under injunctions and attachments which may endure for a year or more, and thereby render the empany and stockholders liable to expensive litigation, and thus endanger and obstruct the progress of the road. Fearful of these results we, as government directors, have felt it our duty to make an early report of these facts to the Secretary, with the view of his calling the attention of the President and Congress thereto, in order that such legislation may be had as may be deemed necessary to protect the interests of the United States, and to keep uninterrupted this great national work.

REPEAL OF THE TENURE-OF-OFFICE ACT.

On motion, Mr. Trumbull's bill to repeal the tenure-of-office act was taken up.

The Secretary read the bill, with the amendment reported by the Judiciary Committee yesterday, striking out the word "repealed," and inserting instead, "suspended until next session of Congress."

Mr. Trumbull briefly reviewed the practice and legislation in record to the

Mr. Edmunds called the attention of Mr. Yates to a legal opinion, which he read from a book, to the effect that the claim that the President could create vacancies in offices without the advice and consent of the Senate was absurd.

Mr. Yates could not agree with that opinion.

Mr. Edmunds said what he read was the opinion of one of the judges of the impeachment trial, Senator Yates, of Illinois. [Laughter.] And there would be the same danger that had always existed of the Executive patronage when left to the Executive alone. Would it not be a temptation in closely contented, elections for the Executive in office to refuse to surrender the reins of Government and to keep control of them by this means.

After further discussion and without a vote the Senate at four o'clock went into

"suspended until next session of Congress."

Mr. Trumbull briefly reviewed the practice and legislation in regard to the appointments and removal from office in the past, and said that while the Judiciary Committee was satisfied that the present adjainistration ought to be relieved from the emparrassment caused by the tenure of office act, yet they thought a regard to consistency, to the principle underlying the bill, required that it should not be abolished, but only suspended.

Mr. Thurnman said that in the Judiciary Committee, he had not voted to amend in any way the bill of the House to repeal the act, because it ought to be rebealed when the Constitution rested in the President, an unlimited and unqualified power of removal from office, or it made the concurrence of the Senate necessary. If the Constitution power of the President to remove from office, or it or set in the concurrence of the Senate necessary. If the Constitution power of the President to remove from office, was absolute, Congress had of course no right to restrict, and if on the other hand, according to the theory of the tenure of office act, the Constitution which was wholly unrelentable if the tenure of office act was a good and constitutional law. The proposal to suspend the law implied a theory of the Constitution which was wholly unrelentable if the tenure of office act was a good and constitutional law. To suspend the law implied a theory of the Constitution which was wholly unrelentable if the tenure of office act was a good and constitutional law. To suspend the fav implied to the condition of the President, and another thing where snother man is President, in favor of the unconditional repeal of the law in the constitution in the tenure of office act was a good and constitutional law. To suspend the fav implied to the conditional law. The proposal to suspend the law implied to the conditional repeal of the law in the president, and another thing where one man is President, in the president of the unconditional repeal of the law in great evil which had attended the operation of the law; that it had transcended the power of appointment of officers from the Executive to the members of the House of Representatives. This transfer had been attended with bad results, and he was therefore prepared to vote for the repeal of the law. His vote, however, could not be given on the repeal on the ground that to vote otherwise would indicate a want of confidence in the President to approve of his official conduct. That seemed to him to be a good excuse. All were liable to be mistaken, and the President would be more than mortal if he did not make some mistakes. He was in the habit of determining his action upon all measures of legislation that came before him without regard to parsons and its probable effect upon them, and only with regard, to his duty to himself and the Senate and the great constituency which he represented. He would vote for the repeal of this law, only because it was a bad one, and not with regard to its effect upon any person or persons.

Mr. Yates said, whether the Senator intended to lecture any body or not he, [Yates] did not intend to be lectured. The Senator that in legislating in regard to offices of the government, he never considered the power of holding an office. But facts were quite he other way, because that Senator in voting for the tenure of office, had done so with reference to the person who held the office of President,

Mr. Fessenden—I did not vote for ft.

Mr. Tates—Well, others did, and they voted with reference to the person holding the office, and insisted that it was proper to refer to General Grant's hattles.

Mr. Howard protested against the repeal of supension of this law would implicate a want of confidence in the President.

Both of these distinguished speakers will discuss the proposed constitutional negro-suffrage amendment and the political and social evils that will follow its ratification.

dtd Secretary Cox and Negro Suffrage. In 1865 Mr. Cox, Grant's Secretary of the Interior, was a candidate for Governor of Ohio. He was interrogated by a couple of Oberlin negro-suffragers, and on the 25th of July replied in a long letter, when he used this language in opposition to negro suffrage, and in disparagement of the idea of political equality between the negro and the white race. Addressing the Oberlin abolitionists,

You, judging from this distance, say:
"Deliver the four million freed people into the hands of their former oppressors, now embittered by their defeat, and they will make their condition worse than before." I, starting from the same principles, and after four years of close and thoughtful observation of the races where they are, say I races where they are, say I am unwillingly forced to the conviction that the effect of the war has not been simply to embitter their relations, but to develop a rooted antagonism which but to develop a rooted antagonism which makes their permanent fusion in one political community an absolute impossibility. The sole difference between us, then, is in the degree of hostility we find existing between the races, and its probable permanence. You assume that the extension of the right of suffeage to the blacks, leaving them intermined with the whites, will cure all the trouble. I believe that it would rather be like the decisions in the outer darkness of which Milton speaks, where

"Chaos umpire sits.

And by decisions more embroils the fray." And by decisions more embrois the fray."
Yet, as I affirm with you, that the rights to life and liberty are inalienable, and more than admit the danger of leaving a laboring class at the entire mercy of those who formerly owned them as slaves, you will say that I am bound to furnish some solution of the problem which shall not deny the right or incur the peril. So I am and the outer real solution. the peril. So I am, and the only real solu-tion which I can see is the peaceable sepa-

SPENCER, IND., March 13, 1869. EDITOR SENTINEL:—A mass convention of the Democracy met at this place to-day for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative. Notwithstanding the fact that the notice of the meeting was imperfectly circulated, and the roads in a miserable condition, our court room was literally jammed with earnest and enthusiastic Democrats from all parts of our county. Judge W. H. Fritts was called upon to preside, and upon taking the chair, entertained the meeting with a short and earnest speech. Hon. W. E. Dittemore, our Representative in the last session of the Legislature, being present, was called out, and on taking the stand was greeted with prolonged shouts of applause. In a very happy and eloquent manner he proceeded to give an account of the stewardship while at the Capitol. The manner in which his address was received was sufficient to convince the most skeptical Residents. EDITOR SENTINEL:-A mass convencaptof. The manner in which his address was received was sufficient to convince the most skeptical Radical that there is but one opinion among the Democracy of Owen, concerning negro suffrage, and that there is the most earnest determination to compel the Radicals to submit the question to a vote of the people. The indorsement of the course of the Demogratic washers. ple. The indorsement of the course of the Democratic members of the Legislature by the people of this county is genuine and enthusiastic. It is not confined to Lemocrats alone, but many Republicans, some of them leaders of their party here, have pledged themselves to assist in returning Mr. Dittemore to the Legislature. Of course Mr. Dittemore was renominated for Research in returning Mr. Dittemore to the Legislature, Of course Mr. Dittemore was renominated for Representative without a dissenting voice, as was Hon. John M. Humphreys for Senator. The meeting adopted a series of resolutions condemning the Radicals for their treachery in attempting to fasten negro suffrage on the people against their wishes and consent, approving of the action of the Democratic members in resigning, and instructing our nominees to tion of the Democratic members in resigning, and instructing our nominees to use every honorable means, and to resign again, if necessary, to defeat the passage of the negro suffrage amendment.

The convention was also addressed by Hon. W. M. Franklin and J. C. Robinson, Esq. A series of meetings was arranged, extending throughout every township in the county. There need be no fears of Owen county. She will do her whole duty at the election on the 23d.

The Radicals, fearful of showing the havo made in their ranks by the folly and madness of their leaders, have determined to run no candidate in this county on the 23d.

The discussion of this important his-torical subject, some time since, in our dolumns, led to the discovery of very much that was interesting, and enabled the historians of New England to record the fact that slavery was established by statute law in Massachusetts, and did not grow up there, as in other States, withthe fact that he statute law in Massachusetts, with grow up there, as in other States, without the aid of positive enactments. The envelations made in the progress of the stanishment to all who stanishment to all who revelations made in the progress of the discussion were astonishment to all who took any interest in the history of American slavery, and although at the first a few enthusiastic gentlemen attempted by bold assertion to exactability.

as important to snow that the RHO of slaveholding which provailed among the Puritants and their descendants was but a mild form of servitude, freed from the evils which elsewhere characterized the relation of owner and owned. On this point also such a mass of testimony has been elicited that the reader of New England history can not fail to be astonished at the apparent ignorance of former writers on the subject. In the Historical Magazine for February, we find a remarkably interesting paper by George H. Moore, Esq., which sheds a flood of light on the whole subject. No evidence could be more conclusive on the general character of Massachusetts slavery than such as enables us to judge of its effect on the relation of marriage. In all slaveholding countries, among the greatest evils of slavery has been regarded its interference with the family bond. Mr. Palfrey thinks, "from the reverence entertained by the Fathers of New England for the nuptial tie, it is safe to infer that slave husbands and wives were never parted." But Mr. Palfrey saw the Fathers of New England through the rosy atmosphere which modern Massachusetts historical writers have been accustomed to look through when regarding the Puritans. What shall be said of them after reading Mr. Moore's astonishing paper? He first refers to the "Serious address to the Episcopal separation in New England," by Rev. Noah Hobard of the promises, and the ceremony must therefore be regarded as only a "solemn farce." Hobart instanced only the fact that the slave could not own property, and that therefore the endowment clause of the promise was foolish and profane, but he referred to other "instances which might be produced under this head." It would seem plainly from this that the Puritan form was more flexible than the Episcopalian, and not liable to the objections of Mr. Hobart. The discovery of a genuine form used in negro marriages serves not only to show how this sacred relation was regarded by the public sentiment as well as the religion of the day, but also to as it was profitable. We quote from Mr. Moore's paper:

"How, then, was it that Parson Hobart, in 1748, could put his Episcopal brother to the blush for profaning the marriage service in the manner alleged, unless the more accommodating spirit of his own sect enabled him to adapt its formulas at discretion to the cases which came before him? The inference is obvious, and sustains the tradition, that in Massachusetts the marriages of slaves, while they were unquestionably more formal in some cases than merely jumping a broomstick, had in reality little more practical significance in their obligations, limited, as these were in extent and duration, by the necessary conditions of servitude. This tradition is now corroborsted by contemporary documentary evidence, which proves beyond doubt that the kind of wedlock in which Sambo and Dinah, Pompey and Chloe, became nominally husbands and wives, under Massachusettlaws, was very uncertain and precarious; and its religious celebration in very truth 'a solemn farce."

"Une of the most accomplished historical scholars in the country, Mr. J. Wingate Thornton, of Boston, has recently discovered the form of negro marriage prepared and used by the Rev. Samuel Phillipps, of Andover, Massachusetts, whose ministry there, beginning in I'll and ending with his death in 1717, was a prolonged and eminently distinguished service of more than half the nineteenth century. His immediate ancessor was the Rev. Jonathan French (1772–1898) to the family of whose son Mr. Thornton found the document at North Hampton, New Hampshire, on the thirty-first of December, 1898. FELLOW-CITIZENS: You will remember that three months ago I addressed you from this stage, and ventured various predictions touching the purposes, policy, and conduct of the Radical party. Need I tell you to-night that these predictions have been most painfully verified? Need I tell you that I came up here to night verified almost, as it were, by prophecy? That all and more than all I told you ave months ago. They told you they were not in favor of negro suffrage. Now, by as base a fraud as ever characterized a political party, they attempt, by a political farce, to force this issue upon you; but, fortunately for Indiana, by the action of the Democratic members, there will be afforded opportunity to at least a large portion of the people of the State to proclaim to the people of the United States that they do not approve of negro suffrage. It is said they have acted revolutionary.

WRAT IS REVOLUTION?

Answer for yourselves that question. Is it to stand by the Constitution? Is it to stand by the Gotrines of the fathers? to stand by the Gotrines of the fathers? to stand by the Government for white men? to stand by your own pledges made to the people? If this be revolution, then, sir, your Senators and Representatives who resigned are revolutionists. There are revolutionists in the country, in the State of Indiana, in the Congress of the United States. Are they Democrate? Need I tell you that he who broke his word, his own plighted yow, who violates the principles of his party, who tramples under his feet the supreme law of the land, who violates all the settled doctrines of civil liberty, who would corrupt the very life, the fountain of our national existence—they are the revolutionists in truth; they should be branded as revolutionists from the highest to the lowest. They are self-seeking, wicked, ambitious revolutionists. They do not care the weight of a hair for your property, for their promises, nor any of the solemn obligations that they have made before the people and with uplifted hand before God Almighty. Geo. V. Howk is not a revolutionist, nor are any of those men who have done themselves the honor to refuse to be a party to fraud, servile, palpable, inexcusable, dishonorable fraud upon the people of Indiana. But these revolutionists in Indiana are high in place and power. WHAT IS REVOLUTION?

GOVERNOR BAKER A REVOLUTIONIST.

One of them is Governor Conrad Baker, a dyed-in-the-wool, never-ceasing Abolitionist, a negro-equality advocate. Governor Baker, while he was a candidate for your suffrages, stated many times that, notwithstanding he was in favor personally of negro suffrage (for he did not deny it.) if he should be elected Governor, he would not only use all of his personal power, but all of his official power, to prevent any attempt on the part of Congress to force upon the people, against their will, negro suffrage. In a speech at Peru, Indiana, he said: "I have always said that in the loyal States negro suffrage was a question for the people of those States; that they had never rebelled against the Government, and they have a right to settle the question as they thought best. I stand here to-day and say you shall have this right, and I shall resist with all the power I have, personally and politically, any strempt on the part of Congress to interfere with suffrage in the state of Indiana." Yet this loyal Governor, this man who, when he was approached by his anticipated Lieutenant to make an arrangement to secure his election to the United States Senate, who refused a proposition and pronounced it indeent and corrupt, turns around be-GOVERNOR BAKER A REVOLUTIONIST. his election to the United States Senate, who refused a proposition and pronounced it indecent and corrupt, turns around before the people of Indians and commits an act of indecency and corruption that is a hundred-fold meaner than ever Bill Cumback proposed to him. (Applause.) Mr. Kerr next referred to the universal denial by the Radicals that they were in favor of hegro suffrage in Indiana, and how treacherously they had betrayed those declarations. Mr. Lincoln had said that one of the two races must dominate, and he was in favor of his own race. Upon that declaration they had elected him. The speaker also showed plainly that all the additional expenses of the special election were chargeable to Governor Baker alone.

THE ULTIMATUM OF RADICALISM,
After showing the sinister motives of the Radicals in their advocacy of negro suffrage, Mr. Kerr proceeded to consider the tendency and ultimatum of Radicalism and referred to centralization of power; their declaring the supremacy of SCongress over every other power in the land. Their attempting to gain control over the financial interests of the entire vecountry. The rivalry between the two houses is very great, and one is all the time trying to undermine the other. Stewart's great retail store will be again enlarged next summer. He has at last secured the two large building at the corner of Ninth street and Broadway, and will have them taken down in May. One of these building has been occupied for several years by Goupil, the well known picture dealer. Goupil is moving up to Fifth svenne, and Stewart will then have the whole block to himself. About the first of May his principal rivals in the retail line—Arnold, Constable & Co.,—will take possession of the magnificent store built for them at Broadway and Eighteenth street. It covers a whole block on Broadway, and is a much finer looking huilding than Stewart's, though not quite so large. Another big dry goods firm, Lake & McCreery, will also move up town in May. A splendid building has been erected for them one block above Stewart's, and just opposite the St. Denis Hotel. When Arnold, Constable & Co., and Lake & McCreery move up, Lord & Taylor will be the only retailers below Tenth street. It does not seem many years since the principal retail trade was centered between Canal street and Stewart's old house at Chambers street, and the center is now fully two miles up Broadway. At that time a man proposing to open a store at Union Square would have been pronounced mad, and now almost every house in the neighborhood is converted into a store. Stewart led trade up to Tenth street about ten years ago, and it is now a couple of miles above him.

The General's father is a Methodist, his mother is a Methodist, his wife is a Methopist, and through these channels the General himself is well seasoned with wholesome religious convictions. We believe he has not been converted according to the Methodist ritual—he has not peased through the ordeal of mourning for his sins and that joyous sense of forgiveness and that joyous sense of forgiveness and that change of heart through the Holy Ghos: which easts off he old man Adam and makes the believer happy in the faith, but he is still in the way of salvation, and that's a great deal in these pays of skepticism, materialism and unbelief. Thus, although the General likes to ride behind Bonner's fast hoyses, and goes to balls, and although in "swinging round the circle" of our institutions he may drop in for an hour or so at the "Blook Crook," the opera, and the opera bouffe, he still likes mother's church, and all the churches, and ests a good example as an honorary member by avalling himself of every opportunity to go to church. honorary member by availing himself of every opportunity to go to church.

A Southern writer, who has just had an interview with George D. Prentice, says he is not the man he was ten years ago. Indeed, his genius is gone, and his person is a mere wreck. His family is broken up—wife dead, one son killed on the Confederate side, another settled on a farm down the river—and the old man farm down the river- and the verging on three score and ten, cooks his breakfast and dinner in his little room on the third floor of the Courier building, and lives only in conversation about th

A French chemist lately took a pair of stockings imported from England, dyed a brilliant red, extracted the coloring matter, inserted it under the skin of a dog, and had the satisfaction of seeing the animal die in twelve hours. He then took the coloring matter out of the dog's body, and with it dyed a skein of silk, He warns everyone against the use of "coraline," the dye used, and proposes the prohibition of the importation of red stockings from England.

A railway conductor, who stepped from the stable as oatler upon the platform as a railway conductor, and thence into the finest residence in Concord, New Hampshire, with a fortune of $150,000, was lately sued for withholding fares from the company, and a judgment rendered against him for $15,500—cheap at that.

There is talk of a new tunnel under the Thames. The future passengers are to be conveyed under the river in an omnibus, to be let down, carried across, and brought to the surface again by hydraultic pressure. This plan is considered preferable to the present ferries, and cheaper than a bridge.

Personalities are a dangerous game to play with Prentice. Thurlow Weed's paper having ventured to say that "the Louisville Journal has a chip on its shoulder which it dares any one to knock off," Prentice responds, "The editor of the New York Commercial has a block on his shoulders which ought to be knocked off,"

From Rev. William Smith,

Pastor of the Passyunk Baptist Church, Phil-Having used your Hoofand's German Bitter occasionally for a number of years, with great benefit, and recommended it to others who have also found it beneficial to their health. I take pleasure in commending it to any persons who may need a tonic free from rum, as well calculated to strengthen and invigorate the system and remove those disabilities under which many are laboring.

WILLIAM SMITH, No. 143 South Eleventh street, Philadelphia. October 1, 1868.

From Rev. Levi G. Beck,

Formerly Pastor of the North Baptist Church Philadelphia. I have known Hoofland's German Bitters fa I have known Hoofland's German Bitters favorably for a number of years, I have used them in mv own family, and have been so ple sed with their effects that I was induced to recommend them to many others, and know that they have operated in a strikingly beneficial manner. I take great pleasure in thus publicly proclaiming this fact, and calling the attention of those afflicted with the disease for which they are recommended, to these Bitters, knowing from experience that my recommendation will be sustained. I do this more cheerfully, as Hofland's Bitters is intended to benefit the afflicted, and is not "a rum drink," Yours, LEVI G. BECK.

DR. W. M. WILCOX—Ser: In answer to your inquiry in regard to the effect of your remedy for tapeworm. I beg leave to tell my experience: Seven years ago I discovered that I was afflicted with one of these monsters. At first it did not interfere with my health or business, but after about a year I became very sick at intervals. My health begrep to fall me, and I became very thin and afflicated. I commenced doctoring and to be brief, I have paid out large sums of money to a great many physicians. I lived at Uniontown, Kentucky, when I commenced with the physicians, every one of whom I tried in that and neighboring towns and cities, without any effect. I was told by many of them that the worm would kill me; that there was no loope, as it was virtually a question of time in my ease for A SUPERIOR quality of Paint Brushes always on hand. Also.

any effect. I was told by many of them that the worm would kill me; that there was no hope, as it was virtually a question of time in my case for my death to ensue. I began to think they were right, and concluded to enlist in the service, thinking it just as well to be shot with a bullet as to die of a worm. I also had a hope that while in the service I might find some Doctor who would do some good. In this I was mistaken, as I tried every one I came in contact with during three years' service. I took every kind of medicine that could be thought of, all of which failed to remove the terrible enemy gnawing at my vistals. I finally moved to this city about a year ago, and was recammended to call and see you. At the time I came I must confess that I thought the job a hopeless one, but I am happy to say that I now rejoice that I came. The moreter was entirely removed from my system, after beware satirely removed from my system, after beworm was sixty-six feet and five inches long, and I am satisfied that I am perfectly well. I have gained my strength very fast during the past two months. I most heartly recommend your removed to all those similarly afflicted.

FLOTO COUNTY, July 10, 1868.

DR. W. M. WILCOX—Sir: In accordance with your request, I give you, and through you, the public, the following facts in regard to the affliction of my niece, Annie Lewis, aged 16 fears, of tape worm: About twelve years ago the first symptoms of the presence in her system of the monster was discovered. She was always asmall, pale and emaciated child, having very little to say. Every remedy the family could hear of was tried effectually, but failed to remove only portions of the worm. Three years she was under the treatment of eminent physicians of Louisville, who used every known remedy, and tried all sorts of experiments to dislodge the eneur, but without avail. A remedy prepared by Louisville, who used every known remedy, and tried all sorts of experiments to dislodge the enemy, but without avail. A remedy prepared by the celebrated Dr. Jayne, of Philadelphia, was also tried, but it, too, failed to effect a cure. The effect of the worm upon her health canced her to become partially blind, and to suffer otherwise to a considerable extent for several years. All hopes of her recovery were given up until I hopes of her recovery were given up until I heard of your remedy. It perfermed an effectual cure in a short time, removing the entire worm, twenty-two feet five inches long. Since that time the patient has gained flesh very fast, now weighing eighty-four pounds against sixty-four previous to the removal of the monster. She is now in apparent good health, and is cheerful and lively, having fully recovered her sight. I can cheerfully recommend your remedy as asfe and sure in such cases. Yours, respectfully.

CITY NEWS.

Cheap Admrtising. There is a growing demand for cheap adver ising, and in order to accommodate this want we have concluded to insert under appropriat eads in the DAILY SENTINEL, short advertise ents at TWENTY CENTS for three lines o less for each insertion, and FIVE CENTS for each additional line. This is a medium of adat half-past one o'clock. By order of vertising that offers rare inducements to merchants, traders, manufacturers and mechanic to build up a large trade. It will also he found an excellent medium to bring to the notice of the public all kinds of real proprty that is for sale, rent or lease. To verybody, in fact-to those who desire to buy thusly: any article or species of personal property; if a situation of any kind is wanted by a man or voman: if you desire help or if servants want situations : losses of all kinds : articles stolen : estrays of every description-in fact, any adversements that can be got into a small compass, this cheap advertising system will be found both aluable and economical. While it will cost b little, these advertisements will be widely read. As we offer a great inducement to advertisers in the cheap advertisement columns we hope the advantages of advertising will be tried by all who have any occasion for it. Two copies of the SENTIN are sent to every county in the State for the use of the pubic. They are addressed to the county officers. Meteorological reports for the Indinapolis Academy of Medicine, by G. V. Woolen, M. D., Meteorological Commit

SMILER DON'T SMILE ON HOOSIERS Disappointed office-seekers who have re-turned from Washington, sre loud and deep in their curses of Colfax. They say he don't even look at a Hoosier, much less recommend one for an office. They report that he says he will not aid office-seekers. If this is true, the people should drap on him. Apropos to the above: One of the Republican Congress publican Congressmen, from this State, was visited last week by an old friend of his father's and his own, who lives in Illinois, and who was visiting Washington for the first time. Of course the M. C. paid him a good deal of attention, showing him the various sights and nice things to be seen in that gorgeous city of magnificent distances. While in the Capitol, after having been the rounds, the old gentleman remarked that he had seen about everything of note there was to be seen, but he did not want to leave Washngton without meeting Vice President Colfax "All right" said the Congress man, "we'll go right over now, and I will introduce you." In walking to the Senate Chamber, they encountered Smiler, in one of the corridors, and the M. C., stopping, said: "Oh, Mr. Colfax, you are just the man I wanted to see. "No, sir, I have not," retorted the now infurlated General, "and I'll be d-d if I ever do ask a favor of you, or any other man who is not a gentleman. Come, my friend," turning to his companion, "I do not wish to make you acquainted with a man who is no geatleman;" and with these words he lett Mr. Colfax to cool his heels and meditate over the evils of getting "stuck up" about a little office. CITIZENS MEETING. - The meeting at the Council Chamber last night was very slimly attended, but the gentlemen who were present seemed in no way discouraged, and proceeded to the transaction of the business of the meeting. On motion, Mayor Daniel Macauley was called to the chair. Mr. J. H. McKernan stated that one of the objects of the meeting was the hearing of the reports of the various committees appointed by the Board of Trade and the Merchants' and Manufacturers Exchange to act in conjunction with the committee appointed by the citizens meeting. As there was not a full representation of those committees the meet ing would have to suffer a disappoint-

offer of the merchants and manufacturers was a very liberal one, and should not be overlooked. As prompt action was needed, he would inquire if Prof. Brown could ed, he would inquire if Prof. Brown could spare the time to prepare such a report, together with such necessary statistics as should meet the present requirements.

Professor Brown regretted that he could not spare the time required for getting up a complete report, but was willing to act with any committee formed for the purpose. Some years ago he had furnished Governor Morton with a report of the mineral resources of the State, as then known, and several thousand copies of that report had been printed by order of the Governor in pamphlet form and distributed throughout the Eastern States. Since that publication, up to the present time, he was daily in receipt of letters from Eastern manufacturers and capitalists inquiring more fally into the

What the Becters Say:

Ames Weelly, M.D., of Koseluske Co., Indians, says: "For three years past I have used Allen's Lung Balsam extensively in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung diseases in use."

Isaac R. Doran, M. D., of Logan Co., Ohio, says: "Allen's Lung Balsam not only sells rapidly, but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties. I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far alwad of any proparation I have ever yet hard.

Dr. Fletcher, of Missouri, says: "I recommend you Balsam in preference to any other medicine for rooughs, and it gives satisfaction."

Allen's Lung Balsam is the remedy to cure all Lung and Throat difficulties. It should better using any other Balsam. It will care when all others fail. Directions accompany each bottle.
